

Farm Animal Detectives

visual perceptual and sensory motor activity

YourTherapySource

© Your Therapy Source Inc
www.YourTherapySource.com

Clip art from Educlips.com

Visit
www.YourTherapySource.com
for more sensory motor activities.

This is great fun for the children to guess and act out the animal.

Purpose: Encourage visual perceptual skills and gross motor skills.

Preparation: Print out the animal picture cards. Cut each card out. Fold the red barn paper in half and cut on the lines to create the screen over the animals.

How to Play the Game: Place the animal card inside the folded paper with the lines cut out. Place a clothespin or clamp at the side to hold the picture in place. The child or children should sit in front of you. Explain to the children that they need to guess what animal is pictured.

You will lift one of the strips of paper at a time slowly revealing the animal. The children should guess what animal it is. Once a child guesses what animal it is have the children act out that animal motion all around the room.

You could sing a song while they act out the motions. This tune is sung to “Here we go round the Mulberry Bush”
“This is the way we crawl like a cow, crawl like a cow, crawl like a cow. This is the way we crawl like a cow all around the room.

This is the way we walk like a chicken....
This is the way we gallop like a horse...
For the pig: This is the way we roll in the mud...
This is the way we hop like a bunny...
This is the way we tip toe like a mouse...

